

“Will You Permanently Protect Habitats Today?”

Animals need their habitats for food and water, shelter from predators, and nest sites in which to rest and raise their vulnerable young.

But as the areas we live grow, theirs shrink. Our wildlife is increasingly threatened by invasions of feral animals and noxious weeds, altered fire regimes, and climatic changes. Wherever we clear and develop, that's where species are pushed closer to the brink.

Australia's animals need safe habitats to survive, or else we will lose them.

1 hectare may not seem like much—it's only the size of sports field. Yet the clearing of 1 hectare of woodland results in the deaths of over 30 birds, 200 reptiles, and 450 trees.

You care about Australia's unique animals and want to see their habitats protected. That's why I'm asking for your help to purchase and protect of over 200 hectares across Australia this year.

For as little as $200, the Foundation can permanently protect 1 hectare of pristine bushland. Will you protect irreplaceable habitats by giving a tax-deductible gift today?

YOU CAN PROTECT LAND IN 2014

QLD: help us purchase and protect a 2nd block of the lush Daintree Rainforest. Thanks to the help of incredible supporters like you, we managed to purchase our 1st block of the Daintree and protect it from development last year.

NSW: we're buying as many blocks as possible to protect an important wildlife corridor linking two national parks.

VIC: we're facilitating the generous donation of a stunning 39 hectare property to the National Reserve System for permanent protection.

SA: help us purchase and protect forever 168 hectares on Kangaroo Island. It's home to vulnerable and rare species, and endangered ecological communities.
